

Invictus Education Trust is looking for an experienced middle/senior leader to join their team of Directors to oversee Teaching & Learning across the Trust, working with staff to develop and embed effective learning skills, and to ensure that students have access to high quality marking and feedback, and know what they need to do to improve.

The Director of Teaching & Learning holds a key position within the Trust. They will provide high quality leadership based on ambition, high expectations, drive and an uncompromising commitment towards securing improvement. They will lead by example.

The Director of Teaching & Learning is responsible for ensuring that students and staff within the Trust have the opportunity to fulfil their potential and will make valuable contributions to shaping and driving school improvement. They will establish and share an educational vision and ethos that supports the Trust's overall vision and ethos and reflects the aspirations and objectives for Teaching & Learning. This will be based on rigorous self-evaluation and reflection and will be designed to secure continuous improvement.

Invictus Directors are a team of lead professionals that take responsibility for the quality of subject provision, curriculum teaching and assessment. The Directors work across the Trust and work closely with Senior Leadership teams to accelerate improvement and raise standards.

The successful candidate will be a committed team player with excellent organisational and motivational skills, with a proven track record of success in improving standards and raising pupil outcomes.

Please see the attached job description, applications can be made by submitting a letter of interest and an application form to rlippitt@invictus.education by Friday 20th March. Closing date 20th March 2020 at 12 noon.